

The Outer Realms Timeline

Created for Readers of the Love Mark Fantasy Romance Series by Linda Kage

Earth Year: 1571.

The Battle of Lepanto, which was a naval combat between the Ottoman Turks and a federation of catholic states from Spain and Italy that was called the Holy League, took place (which was a real-life event). During this war, God sent down some of his angels to help the Holy League (which is fictional and made up for the Love Mark series) and one of those angels was Don Juan of Austria (real life person, but was only an angel warrior for the Love Mark series).

Fictional Don Juan fell in love with fictional human girl, Gloriana, and they had the Nephilim baby girl, Astra, together (all totally fiction). Gloriana died in childbirth, and Astra father's died a month later, during the Massacre of St. Bartholomew's Day (real life event that took place in France from August 24-25, 1572).

Earth Dates: July 1572.

So Astra was born in July of 1572. She was raised by Gloriana's younger sister, Catarina. Catarina moved them north from France to keep her unusual talents hidden from the rest of the world. Astra was between fifty and seventy years old when her aunt died.

Astra was seventy when she married her first husband, who thought she was eighteen. But he and his children tried to have her burned at the stake when she revealed her supernatural abilities to them.

So Astra fled and left them, when she married a 2nd man who she soon left before he could find out her secret. All the while, she slowly moves north, toward England.

Earth Year: 1660

At eighty-eight years old, Astra decided to change her identity into a new person, and she became Bridget (who is a true-life historical figure). She then caught a ship to move to the new Americas, where she met Thomas Oliver (another true-life historical figure), and she married him as Bridget before they landed (not sure when they were actually married in real life).

In Salem, Massachusetts, Thomas and Bridget started their new life together, running taverns. But they fought constantly. She didn't kill him, but he did die, which freed Bridget up enough to marry Edward Bishop (another true-life historical figure).

Earth Year: 1692

(True Life Event) Bridget Bishop was the first person to be hanged from an Oak Tree in Salem, Massachusetts.

(Fictional for the Love mark Series) But instead of dying, Bridget floated out among the stars. She clung to an asteroid that we know as Ceres today, and she spun around until it started to form a new world...The Outer Realms. Changing her identity from Bridget to Corandra Graykey, she waited two more moon cycles for more to join her, since she put a spell on the tree where she was hanged to bring anyone else who died from the tree to her new world as well.

Outer Realms Year: 0 - Earth Year: 1692

Eighteen others arrived in the Outer Realms, forming the original nineteen. Corandra provided an amulet to each person, and she gave them the choice to stay or take their amulet back to Earth.

All nineteen chose to stay. To stay, they had to throw their amulet into the fire and give themselves a new name and identity, and once they did that, they would forget everything from the old world. They could be any gender, race, size, and look any way they wanted to, but they would all start out at twenty-five years old again.

The original nineteen renamed themselves under these houses: Bjorn, Blair, Blessant, Blayton, Donnelly, Gill, Graykey, Grothier, Kole, L'Amante, Lyker, Mandalay, Marton, Moast, Randall, Scott, Teller, Tipton, and Vance.

Only Margaret Scott cheated and gave her old name, so she was able to remember everything from Earth.

After the ceremony, Corandra collected all the amulets from the fire, and these stones are what help Outer Realms people from the Graykey line stay on Earth permanently when they go there, which causes them to send a replacement in their place back to the Outer Realms.

Outer Realms Year: 1 - Earth Year: 1693

The first child was born inside the Outer Realms to Corandra Graykey and Booker Blayton. He was named Holden Graykey.

Outer Realms Year 5 - Earth Year: 1697

The 30th person and 11th child in the Outer Realms was born. Locasta Graykey was daughter of Booker Blayton and Belle Blessant.

Outer Realms Year: 10 - Earth Year: 1702

Corandra discovered that Margaret still remembered Earth had been using ideas from the old world to sway minds around her, so they had not had that fresh of a start after all. Livid by this deception, Corandra cursed Margret, turning her into a unicorn. From that point on, she and all her descendents going forward can shapeshift into any animal except human, and they can no longer communicate with others...until someone breaks their curse by sacrificing someone they love most.

Outer Realms Year: 23 - Earth Year: 1715

Korris Graykey was born to Holden Graykey and Locasta Blayton. Corandra Graykey was unhappy about this birth because Holden and Locasta were half-siblings and she didn't believe Holden really wanted to be with Locasta.

When Hester and Heidy, Holden's two sisters, discovered that Locasta enchanted Holden, forcing him to think he loved her, the sisters broke Locasta's spell on him. The next day, Hester and Heidy were found murdered. Livid, Corandra blamed Locasta for their deaths, even though Locasta denied it. But Corandra closed Locasta's womb anyway, preventing her from having any more children.

Outer Realms Year 25: Earth Year: 1717

After the ghastly magical murders of Heidy and Hester, gossip abounded about whether bearing magic was actually good or bad. Finally, a vote went up among the people to cast aside all their magic. More people than not decided to shed their magic into the Back Sea and let the waters wash them away. Ten decided to keep their powers.

Corandra wanted to keep hers, so she altered her Corandra identity and turned herself into her fourth person: Daria. Daria drank from the Back Sea to return all the magic that everyone else denied back to herself.

Outer Realms Year: 48 - Earth Year: 1740

Holden and Locasta's daughter Korris had a daughter with Severin of House Blair. They named the girl Billa Blair.

Outer Realms Year: 62 - Earth Year: 1754

It was discovered that fourteen-year-old Billa Blair was pregnant. When asked who was responsible for this calamity, Billa became unable to speak. It was determined that the sire forced her in ill-gotten ways and thus placed a breach upon her lips, preventing her from telling anyone what was done to her. Locasta swore that Holden raped his own granddaughter, and the impending child is his. She claimed that he looked at Billa with lust in his eyes. But Holden denied it.

And so...Locasta placed a curse upon the unborn child to discover the truth. "If thee lie, let it be that three times a child for every generation after where one kill two and always thirst for more in a reaping of power and revenge. Let the mark of Graykey reveal the truth and keep my word. Only mixing with another child from my womb will set them free."

Outer Realms Year: 63 - Earth Year: 1755

And so, fifteen-year-old Billa bore her sixty-two-year-old grandfather Holden's son. The baby was named Ian, and the Graykey mark upon the infant's inner forearm revealed the truth. Before anyone could punish Holden, however, he kidnapped Billa and Ian and left for parts unknown.

Outer Realms Year: 64 - Earth Year: 1756

Still held under Holden's control, Billa gave birth to a second son, named Iago.

Outer Realms Year: 65 - Earth Year: 1757

Billa birthed her third son. Holden named him Icarus. Corandra/Daria discovered where Holden was hiding Billa, and she helped Billa break free from the spell Holden was holding her under, to which Billa promptly turned on her grandfather and murdered him for his years of abuse.

Locasta was devastated to learn of Holden's death. She seemed more concerned over losing what she called her one true love than she was relieved over Billa finally gaining her freedom. She wept over Holden's dead body for two days straight until Corandra/Daria came up with this curse:

"Only true love can bring one back from the dead. If kissed within three days of perishing, one soul mate can bring back another, binding their dreams for the rest of their days."

Locasta was not able to bring back Holden with a kiss, proving he was not her true love, and she was not his.

Meanwhile, Billa changed her surname to Purge, hoping to purge herself from her bitter past. But the curse continued to plague her children.

Outer Realms Year: 68 - Earth Year: 1760

Finally feeling bad about the curse she created, Locasta gave up all her magic to perform one last spell to one day help break the hold she placed on Holden and Billa's descendants. She opened her sixty-three-year old womb and made herself appear young in order to seduce Avery Bjorn, a man from a pure house, and bear his son that must go on to mix its bloodline with the cursed bloodline.

Outer Realms Year: 69 - Earth Year: 1761

Ender Bjorn was born today, the only son to Locasta and Avery Bjorn. Locasta died in childbirth, but Avery was so revolted to discover who she was—since her body returned to its original sixty-four-year-old form—that he cast the child from his home and asked his neighbors from House Moast—Ursula and Orlan Moast—to take the infant and raise it for him.

Outer Realms: Year 84 - Earth Year: 1776

The kingdom of High Cliff and Tipton were formed this year (Which is coincidentally the same year that America declared its independence on Earth). After Tipton suffered under a great flood, High Cliff helped many of their subjects seek refuge until the waters had subsided. In their gratitude, Tipton's king Ribald L'Amante presented High Cliff's king Awgust Grothier with his daughter, Elaina, for marriage.

Immediately infatuated with his new wife, Awgust granted Elaina any wish she wanted. But she only wanted to feel love for her husband.

So Coranda (whose identity was Eelah at that time) was called to the castle. Eelah was serving as the only mage in High Cliff, so she devised a tattoo similar to the magic she made for Locasta to tell if Holden was her true love or not. And she placed this mark on Queen Elaina's temple.

But Awgust was not Elaina's true love. Elaina recognized a foot soldier in the High Cliff army, Ender from House Bjorn, as her soul mate the moment she saw him training.

She and Ender fell in love, so Ender honorably approached the king for her hand. The king agreed to a noble duel, in which Ender won, taking Awgust's life, and Elaina was able to marry her true love. While she and Ender ruled High Cliff together, she put out a decree that all High Clifters get a love mark upon their birth.

THE FIRST REAPING

The dark parts of Locasta's curse finally came to fruition twenty-six years after its creation. In a fit of thirst for more, Billa's third son, twenty-three-year-old Icarus, succumbed to his bloodlust and slayed his two older brothers, Ian and Iago. In their death, he reaped their power and became magically stronger. Thus, making the Graykey curse stronger.

THE SECOND REAPING

Eighteen-year-old Jonas Graykey (only son of Ian) was consumed with revenge and sought to kill his uncle Icarus for the murder of his father from fifteen years earlier. But Icarus's three children fought to defend Icarus. In the fight, Jonas murders his cousins Jinger and Jorran. But Icarus's ten-year-old son, Jonquil, slays Jonas.

Outer Realms Year: 110 - Earth Year: 1802

Since Epock Moast, the son of Orlan and Ursula, was raised as a close brother to King Ender Bjorn of High Cliff, the Moast family became very close to the Bjorns. And in this year, Emmett Moast, the son of Epock, married Princess Amanda Bjorn, the daughter of Ender, while Prince Elon, the son of Ender, married Annabell Moast, the daughter of Epock.

Outer Realms Year: 166 - Earth Year: 1858

The island of Corandra was formed to store the zarconians after a dead unicorn mixed powers with and reanimated a dead, decaying dragon who mated with wolves. So Corandra, whose identity was Fewna at this point, spent a few years up there, making sure the mutant unicorn/dragon/wolf monsters were kept contained. Meanwhile, over in Lowden...

THE THIRD REAPING

Icarus died at age 101, and immediately his descendants turned on each other to consume each other's powers. Siblings (and children of Jonquil) Kreeva, Kovak, and Klinger fought for many hours until Klinger triumphed, killing the others. He then became the new family leader and superpower.

Outer Realms Year: 173 - Earth Year: 1865

While President Lincoln is being shot in America, Lawton Purge (Graykey) and first cousin Laylee Prge (Graykey) have a daughter together named Morgaine in the Outer Realms.

THE FOURTH REAPING

Graykeys (Though they were still going under the name Purge at this time) Lanse, Loki, Luster, Lymrick, and Lucian banded together to seek revenge for their parents, Kreeva and Kovak. But Klinger's children Lawton, Lara, and Larder fought them all off and killed them. And then Laylee let her and Lawton's one-year-old Morgaine play in the blood of Laylee's fallen siblings and cousins.

Outer Realms Year: 180 - Earth Year: 1872

Lawton and Laylee have a son named Merlin.

THE FIFTH REAPING

This is the worst reaping yet. Laylee gave birth to Lawton's third child. Lawton took one look at newborn Marvello and saw a great power in him. So Lawton killed his father Klinger, his wife Laylee, his two siblings Larah and Larder, and two of his cousin Lanse's children Mim and Miko (leaving one daughter Mina alive so Marvello could mate with her when he came of age) and he consumed all their power, in the hopes of giving it to Marvello someday.

Corandra, whose identity is Grindal now, creates dragons to defend the people of Lowden from the Graykeys.

THE SIXTH REAPING

Thirty-nine-year-old Morgaine decided she was in love with her younger brother, twenty-nine-year-old Marvello. She seduced Marvello into her bed, and there she convinced him to kill their uncle Merlin's two sons Nick and Noah, and then Marvello took the life of their father: Lawton. Heartbroken by the death of her siblings, Neely took her own life.

Meanwhile, in High Cliff, Abbott Moast had a grandson born named Anatoli. Heartbroken that her dragons didn't stop the Graykeys, Corandra tries out her first male identity and goes off to live in the marshy islands in the tip of Tipton as Hewlett.

Outer Realms Year: 213 - Earth Year: 1905

Morgaine and Marvello had their first son: Novak.

Outer Realms Year: 215 - Earth Year: 1907

Morgaine and Marvello decided they wanted to rule a kingdom. They invaded Lowden, as it had dragons living in its caves. And they killed the current King Freydo Gill, and they took over running the kingdom.

Outer Realms Year: 218 - Earth Year: 1910

Morgaine and Marvello had their second son: Norton.

Outer Realms Year: 220 - Earth Year: 1912

THE SEVENTH REAPING

Morgaine and Marvello gave birth to their third son: Nestor. Merlin then snuck into the castle to kill all three of Morgaine and Marvello's children in revenge. But Marvello killed Merlin instead. And in his fit of bloodlust, Marvello killed his sister-wife Morgaine as well.

Outer Realms Year: 231 - Earth Year: 1923

THE EIGHTH REAPING

Novak met his third cousin, Nona Purge, daughter to Mina that Lawton let live in the fifth reaping. Novak and Nona fell in love and decided to take over all the family power together. So, while Novak killed his siblings—Norton and Nestor—and then his father, Marvello, so he could take over, ruling Lowden, Nona murdered her two siblings, Neiman and Norman. And they became queen and king of Lowden together.

Outer Realms Year: 233 - Earth Year: 1925

Nona and Novak had their firstborn, a son named Obediah.

Outer Realms Year: 235 - Earth Year: 1927

Nona and Novak had a second child, a son named Orick.

Outer Realms Year: 237 - Earth Year: 1929

Nona and Novak had a third child, a son named Onner. They learned Nona's youngest brother, Norman, didn't die. And he had two twins: a female Olivia, and a male named Oliver.

Outer Realms Year: 245 - Earth Year: 1937

Obediah, Orick, and Onner made a pact not to kill each other. Thus, they were physically not able to kill each other. But Orick was thirsty for power. He tried to murder Norman's twins, Olivia and Oliver, but Norman caught on to their plan and sent the eight-year-olds off to the old world to protect them.

He also killed any of his subjects who thought to rebel against the way he claimed the throne. Among these many, was Anatoli Moast and his wife Amelia. To pay Nicolette back for this added magic, she also unknowingly gives Nicolette's one true love a love potion to make him more pliable to her!

Book 3 - MARK OF LOVE - Indigo followed Nicolette to Far Shore to be the commander in her army, only to sense his one true love in Quilla Graykey and follow her down into High Cliff, where they escaped together to Earth with her Aunt Melaina.
